NAME WARREN S. ELY LIBRARIAN-EMERITUS OF COUNTY SOCIETY

Has Served 28 Years With Distinction, Says An Announcement

MACREYNOLDS IS ASS'T.

Dr. B. F. Fackenthal, Jr., Is Re-Elected As President Of Society

DOYLESTOWN, May 8.—After serving 28 years with distinction as librarian of the Bucks County Historical Society, Warren S. Ely, of Doylestown, was made librarian-emeritus of the Society, at the fifty-third annual meeting here Saturday in the auditorium of the Mercer Museum.

At the same meeting the board of trustees and officers after an executive session announced the election of George MacReynolds, former Doylestown newspaperman as assistant librarian. Mr. MacReynolds is well-fitted to assume the ever-increasing work at the Society where a new addition to the library was completed recently.

Dr. B. F. Fackenthal, Jr., of Riegelsville, was re-elected president of the Society. Other officers re-elected are as follows: First vice-president, Judge Calvin S. Boyer, Doylestown; second vice-president, John H. Ruckman, Buckingham township; secretary and treasurer, Horace M. Mann, Doylestown; curator, Horace M. Mann.

Redecoration of the auditorium together with numerous other improvements was authorized at the business session. This work will be completed during the coming year.

Twelve new members were added at the Saturday meeting as follows: Miss Mary Swartzlander, Doylestown; Webster S. Achey, Spring Valley; Edgar Black Mathews, Ocean Grove; Walter Ruch, Plumsteadville; Mrs. Kathryn Cooper, Langhorne; Rev. Lewis Sasse, 2nd, Newtown; Miss Helen H. Ely, Newtown; Mrs. Lewis Sigafos, Doylestown; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Patterson, Doylestown; Mr. and Mrs. Winfield O. Weisel, Doylestown.

The librarian's report submitted by Librarian Ely showed that 160 volumes have been added during the past year, of which 150 were purchased at a price of $325.16 and forty-five others were donated.

Motion pictures of the Delaware Valley, taken by William W. Chambers, of Philadelphia, past president of the Philadelphia Photographic Society, were shown at the afternoon session. This part of the program proved to be one of the most delightful features of the annual meeting. Mr. Chambers, who has a summer home at Smithtown, showed pictures that for beauty have never been equalled so far as the Delaware Valley is concerned.

Edward R. Barnsley, of Newtown, read an interesting paper on "Major Thomas Barnsley of the Royal American Regiment of Foot."

"Some of the Loyalists of Bucks County During the American Revolution," was the subject of another paper read by Louis E. Thompson, of Glen Ridge, N. J.

Miller and Blackburn See
Game Here Then Visit Elks

Edmond, "Bing" Miller, captain of the Philadelphia Athletics, visited Bristol last evening and while here addressed the members of the Elks at their semi-monthly meeting and told of some of his experiences as a big league ball player.

Russell "Lena" Blackburn, coach of the same club, and one-time Bristol favorite, accompanied Miller to town. He also told many amusing stories of the diamond.

"Bing" Miller answered many questions about players on the Athletics and on other teams. He told of the prospects of his club in the pennant race, saying "We have a young team that should develop into one of the best in the league with more experience," adding "that Wristler on second base and McNair at short should break the American League record for double plays this year if they continue with the same brand of ball they are playing."

"Lena" Blackburn spoke on the fatherly interest Connie Mack shows for his players and how he develops them in his own mind way, giving them every opportunity to make good. Mr. Blackburn was loud in his praise of young Hayes, the Athletics' sensational catcher, and thought that within the next two years he would develop into a star.

David Landreth, Bristol's best-known baseball enthusiast and sportsman, also addressed the members, and gave a resume of his trip through Florida this past winter where he visited the baseball training camps. Mr. Landreth gave some interesting impressions on the intimate side of the training field and what it takes for a fellow to make a big league club.

White in Bristol, Messrs. Miller and Blackburn were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Watson of Bath street, where they enjoyed a shad dinner.

Pinocle Is Played At Shepherds Party Here

Pinocle was played last evening at the party in the F. P. A. Hall, conducted under auspices of the Shepherds Delight Lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem.

The affair was in charge of Miss Edith Allen and Henry Streeper.

Highest scores were made by: Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin, 756; Mrs. John Bruden, 682; Mrs. Ennis, 637; Mrs. Warren Thompson, 634; M. Obrecht, 529.

CORNWELLS PROTESTS GAME AT HULMEVILLE

Claim Umpire Changed Decision, Giving Hulmeville One-Run Lead

SCORE ENDS 6 TO 5

HULMEVILLE, May 8.—The game between Cornwells and Hulmeville nines in the Lower Bucks County League, here, last evening, in which a win was credited to the local players, was protested by the Cornwells aggregation. The visitors contend that Bilger, Hulmeville left fielder, was first called out at home in the last inning and then safe by umpire Johnson.

One of the features of the game was a high, wide and handsome hit by Afflerbach, Hulmeville, which took him to third base.

Health Problems Are Discussed At Sessions
Bucks Co. Public Health Ass'n
Has Many Speakers at Spring Meeting
SUBJECTS ARE VARIED

QUAKERTOWN, May 8.—Physicians, nurses and welfare workers from all parts of Bucks County attended the Spring meeting of Bucks County Public Health Association at the headquarters of Quakertown Woman's Club, here, Friday.

In the morning the round table conference conducted by Miss Ella McNeil, of the S. S. Chapter of the American Red Cross, showed what a need there is for this "cleaning house" for health problems.

Dr. O. H. Strouse's address on the eye and its care was most opportune because of its relation to County Relief and also the Pension for the blind, begins functioning here in June.

Dr. Raymond D. Tice's talk on the "Underprivileged Child" was excellent and J. H. Hoffman's explanation of much of the county school health work showed how necessary it is to have the parents cooperative.

Mrs. John A. Flood, of New Hope, told of the P. T. A. interest in parent education, so needed for the children's good. Tribute was paid to the memory of the late Miss Margaret Ely because of her activity and interest for many years.

Miss Rachel Cheldsey, of the Family Society of Philadelphia, spoke on "Understanding and Relationship" and it showed the sincere work being done, and Dr. H. P. Feigley's paper on "Why periodical examinations are necessary" ended a very fine program for advancement in helping people to help themselves and information on health projects.

The Spring meeting next year will be in Bristol.

Thirty Tables of Card

MAJOR THOMAS BARNESLEY OF THE ROYAL AMERICAN REGIMENT OF FOOT

Historical Paper Read by Mr. Barnsley, Newtown, at meeting of Bucks County Historical Society in Doylestown, May 5th

Mr. President, fellow members of the Bucks County Historical Society: Major Thomas Barnsley was a character of considerable prominence in provincial Bucks County; however, had he not died just before the Revolution, Mr. Thompson would have been reading about him in his excellent paper preceding for the Major, an undoubted British Loyalist, spent his entire adult life in the military service of his King. But because of his untimely death at the age of 45, participation on either side of the War was prevented; and Major Barnsley died as born, a decided Englishman.

Before presenting a biographical sketch of the Major and a brief genealogy of his family, the writer wishes to point out that the subject of this paper was not the first of his name in Pennsylvania, history books to the contrary notwithstanding. By a queer coincidence though, the first Barnsley in the Province was also named Thomas. He settled in Chester County as early as 1704, in which year his signature appears on the election return for sheriff. This Thomas Barnsley owned three tracts of land of 105, 30, and 200 acres each, located on the southeast side of Dismal Run, in what is now Middletown township, Delaware County.

In 1715, he was assessed £4, and in the following year had parts of his land surveyed. He then must have removed soon afterward to places unknown, because no further trace is to be found. Said Thomas was no relation to our Thomas, nor did either of them have anything to do with the naming of the village and post office of Barnsley in East Nottingham township, Chester County.

Major Thomas Barnsley was born in Sheffield, Yorkshire, England, in 1726, the ninth and youngest child of Jonathan and Hannah Barnsley. No facts are known about his ancestry or parentage except that his father was baptized May 10, 1693, as "the son of Jonathan Barnsley," and his mother was buried April 7, 1744. Jonathan Barnsley, Jr. and his wife Hannah had nine children, who were: Jonathan, Hannah, Ann, Mary, Samuel, Sarah, Martha, Joseph, and lastly, Thomas.

Jonathan Barnsley III, the oldest child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized April 17, 1713. He married and had three children: Jonathan IV, Hannah, and Phyllis.

Jonathan Barnsley, the second child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized January 5, 1714. She married first, Dennis Eyre and had four children: George, Sarah, Thomas, and Dennis. Jr. Hannah married secondly, Christopher Smith and had a son Capt. William Smith, who was baptized March 12, 1740. Capt. Smith came to Bucks County with his uncle Major Barnsley.

Ann Barnsley, the third child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized May 15, 1715. On December 26, 1733 she married a cutter named William Stainforth, also of Sheffield. Ann died prior to 1765 at which time her four children were living in Sheffield. These children were: William, baptized February 19, 1735; John, baptized March 2, 1737; Hannah, baptized December 14, 1737; and Thomas, baptized January 12, 1739. John Stainforth, their second child, came to Bucks County with his uncle Major Barnsley, changed his name to John Barnsley, and became the ancestor of a numerous family, of whom, more later.

Mary Barnsley, the fourth child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized September 19, 1716. She married Robert Shepherd on March 30, 1744, and had two children: Jennima and Robert Jr., both of whom came to Bucks County with their uncle Major Barnsley.

Samuel Barnsley, the fifth child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized September 27, 1717. He married on October 2, 1739, Esther Hoyland, of Sheffield. They had one child, Nanny, who was baptized August 21, 1740.

Sarah Barnsley, the sixth child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized August 29, 1718. She married in 1745, Benjamin Hallam, who died previous to 1756. They had one daughter, Sarah.

Martha Barnsley, the seventh child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized September 2, 1719. She died unmarried in July, 1745.

Joseph Barnsley, the eighth child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized November 16, 1722. Nothing is known concerning him.

Thomas Barnsley, the ninth child of Jonathan, Jr. and Hannah, was baptized October 28, 1726. Little is known of his early life, family tradition says that his wife Bersheba was an Irish woman whom he had married when his regiment was in Ireland. Perhaps Bersheba was Irish, but it is impossible for him to have married her when his regiment was in Ireland, because it was recruited in this country, and did not see over-seas service until years after her husband's death.

No doubt Thomas entered the army because he was the youngest of a large family, and had little inheritance. Anyway, his first definite record is found in the British Army Lists, which show that he was commissioned ensign in the 62nd Regiment on December 26, 1755, at the age of 29. In the following year there was enlisted in this country four battalions of foreigners to form a regiment for service against the French. This was known as the 60th or Royal American Regiment, and with this was combined the old 62nd Regiment. The Royal Americans, as they were familiarly called, maintained their regimental name until about 1824, when they became known as the King's Royal Rifles, which name they still bear. When the regiment was first recruited in 1756, it was dressed in red and equipped without rifles like an ordinary line regiment. The first issue of rifles to the Royal Americans does not appear to have been made until 1800.

Thomas Barnsley was transferred to the Royal American Regiment at its institution, and promoted to adjutant on August 18, 1756, just a month after the arrival in this country of John Campbell, Earl of Loudoun, who succeeded William Shirley as Commander in Chief of the British forces.

On December 2, 1756, Thomas Barnsley was commissioned lieutenant of the Royal Americans, and in the following year saw service with them in Canada. An original document in the office of the State Archivist, Harrisburg, dated July 8, 1758, gives a list of the officers and soldiers injured in the attack on Fort Ticonderoga. This list shows that 16 companies of the Royal Americans participated in the fight, and that Lieut. Barnsley was one of the many wounded. Of the British Regulars and Provincials that took part in the action, 550 were killed, 1357 wounded, and 37 reported missing.

Lieut. Barnsley had remarkable promotion, due not only to his ability, but also because his regiment had lost so many high officers in the early part of the war. On May 30, 1759,* he was commissioned captain. On August 12 of the following year the British commander, Gen. Macton, held an important conference with the Western Nations of Indians at "The Camp before Pittsburgh." The account of this meeting as recorded in the Pennsylvania Archives* shows that among those present on the white man's side were: Capt. Barnsley and other officers of the Royal American Regiment, the Colonel of the Pennsylvania Provincials, the chief engineer at Fort Pitt, interpreters, etc. On the Indian's side were: 15 chiefs, 367 warriors, and 561 women and children; in all 943 Indians of seven different tribes.

*This date is erroneously given as 1758 in "Record of Pennsylvania Marriages Prior to 1810," Vol. II, P. 112.

*First Series, Vol. III, P. 744.

Capt. Barnsley probably made his home at Fort Pitt for several years. An original census of the number of houses and inhabitants at the Fort, dated April 14, 1761, is to be seen among the Henry Bouquet's Papers at the British Museum.* This shows that at that time Capt. Barnsley owned two houses in what they called the "Upper Town," and was living there with his family and servants, a household that consisted in all of four men and two women. Shortly afterward, Barnsley more or less removed his headquarters to Philadelphia. On September 15, 1761, the Captain, then described as being "of the City of Philadelphia," loaned £800 on a mortgage to Edmund Briggs, who ran a grist mill and a saw mill in Northampton Township.

*Recorded in Deed Book No. 10; P. 317 and Mortgage Book No. 3, P. 58.

Although Capt. Barnsley maintained a residence in Philadelphia as early as 1761, nevertheless, he was with his regiment at Fort Pitt at later periods. The following extract is from the journal of Christian Frederick Post:

Ye 3d July 1762; my Company arriv'd a little before me at Fort Pitt & were glad to see me, they desired me to provide Victuals for them. I went to the Commander, Capt. Barrenly, where I met N. Ward, and spoke to them, they promised to provide for them.

Ye 6th; I went to Capt. Barrenly to inform him of what I had heard and what the Consequence would be; he afterwards call'd me & N. W. & advis'd us both to persuade the Indians to take the Prisoners along to Philadelphia.

†Pennsylvania Archives, Vol. IV, P. 93 and 94.

On March 29, 1763, Thomas Barnsley, again "of the City of Philadelphia, Esq.," purchased of Col. James and Elizabeth Coultas, of Blockley township, Philadelphia County, a 537-acre tract in Bensalem township, part of the old Tatham tract which Coultas had purchased from Gilbert and Mary (Rodman) Hicks on the January 13th preceding.

†Recorded at Doylestown in Deed Book No. 12, P. 187.

The Captain erected on this tract, exact date unknown, "a handsome and

Fish and Game Association Stocks Streams Here

The Bristol Fish and Game Protective Association has stocked the creek at Maple Beach and the Bristol mill pond with pike perch and yellow perch. These were received today from the Torresdale hatchery.

The association has endeavored to stock some streams throughout the county each year in order that those interested in fishing might find this sport more enjoyable.

ROLLER SKATING RACES THRILL MANY SPECTATORS

Girls' Events Were the Most Closely Contested On Program

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN

A contest filled with excitement held the interest of youngsters and adults alike, yesterday afternoon, as four roller skating races were held, in connection with Youth Week program.

Groups of interested spectators lined the course and a crowd gathered at the finish line to see the skaters glide under the wire.

There was a race for the senior girls and junior girls and one for the senior boys and junior boys.

Both of the contests for girls were much closer than the ones for the boys. In the junior girl race Thelma Johnson, colored, first ward, gained a good lead but as she came down Mill street she tired considerably. She did not lose her head, however. She coasted along in easy fashion keeping a watchful eye over her shoulder to see how close her nearest rival was to her. As her rival, Doris Worthington, Edgely, seemed to gain, Thelma let out just a little more speed and won the race.

In the senior girls race Margaret LeCompte, first ward, rolled over the line tired but an easy winner.

The boys finished in one, two, three order and none of their races were close.

Charles Frey, first ward, took the honors in the junior event while Tony Stallone, fourth ward, won the senior race.

There were eight boys started in the junior event and 10 in the senior race.

Superintendent of Public Safety James L. McGee and Chief Jones looked after traffic with the police officers and members of the Safety Patrol. The Safety Patrol guarded the street intersections along Radcliffe street, while the officers were stationed along Mill street. Traffic was cleared from the north side of Mill street, so as to give the skaters a free course. Moving traffic was diverted off of Mill street.

William H. H. Fine and Ralph Radcliffe held the finish cord while Edward Lynn judged the winners. Harold Hunter listed the entries and David Norman saw that the events were properly started.

How they finished:

Boys—Juniors: First, Charles Frey, first ward; second, Francis McIlvaine, first ward.

Boys—Seniors: First, Tony Stallone, fourth ward; second, William Gallagher, fourth ward.

Girls—Juniors: First, Thelma Johnson, Edgely; second, Doris Worthington, Edgely; third, Marion Burton, first ward.

Girls—Seniors: First, Margaret LeCompte, first ward; second, Florence Mazzanti, fifth ward; third, Mary DeMoia, fifth ward.

IGNORE BILL AGAINST MELLON

Pittsburgh, May 8.—Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the United States Treasury under three presidents, was given a clean slate in his income tax payments by a Federal Grand Jury which failed to return an indictment against him here today. The Grand Jury, which heard five witnesses during its investigation of Mellon's income tax payments from 1931 did not return a true bill against the wealthy industrialist and former representative of the United States at the Court of St. James. The jurors ignored the Government's claim by returning no true bill on the charge that the former Secretary of the Treasury by claiming two losses, attempted evasion of income tax payments for the year 1931. The first was a loss on the sale of stock of the Pittsburgh Coal Company (an ordinary loss of $5,766.30 and a capital loss of $5,672,189.75) and the second, a loss on the sale of stock of the Western Public Service Company (an ordinary loss of $49,500.00 and a capital loss of $352,500). Capital losses are taken on stocks held over two years and ordinary losses on stock held less than two years.

INSULL VIRTUALLY COLLAPSED

Chicago, Ill., May 7.—Samuel Insull virtually collapsed at "the end of the trail" today. A few minutes after the former multi-millionaire public utilities king was formally turned over to local Federal authorities at the conclusion of his long extradition trip from Turkey, to Chicago, he had to be assisted to a couch in the office of the United States Marshal. His son, Samuel Insull, Jr., immediately sent for medical help. Dr. Arthur B. Elliott was summoned.

MANY APPLE ORCHARDS

With the world full of blossoms to select from, the Keystone Automobile Club has prepared a blossom time tour in Bucks county, one of the most beautiful of all the blossoming countryside.

Apple orchards abound in Bucks county. There are hundreds of acres of fragrance and beauty lining nearly every roadside. The tour outlined below will enable the motorist to see the majority of the big orchards, according to F. Melvin Brown, director of touring for the club. The blossoms should be out by May 12.

The tour starts from Philadelphia using U. S. route 611 through Willow Grove to Neshaunim, making a right turn on to State route 132 to Warminster. At Warminster turn on to State route 263, which is Old York road.

ANDALUSIA PASTOR TELLS SCOUTS TO SEEK HAPPY LIFE

Says Boy Scout Objectives
Came Through Life
Of Christ

GIVE SERVICE AWARDS

Presentations Are Made By
Number of Scout
Officials

ANDALUSIA, May 8.—Rev. Herman H. Doh, of the Baptist Church spoke to the Boy Scouts of the Southern Division of the Bucks County Boy Scout Council. The church service was a part of the advancement program of the local council. Rev. Doh advised the boys: "Seek a happy life. Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth, and acknowledge Christ as thy Captain of your soul."

"The boy Scout objectives came through the life of Christ; as a boy he learned to play with others casting aside selfishness, and meanness. When he grew older he took a life objective—working for his Father's business."

Speaking to the parents, the pastor said, "Train a child in the way he should go when he is young, and he will not depart from it. A child cannot be taught by word of mouth as effectively as he can by word of example."

During the service awards, and presentations were made by a number of scout officials. Dr. A. J. Strathie, Newtown, vice president of the Bucks County Council, during his presenting of the star scout badges, said, "Boys—life's pathway is a difficult one. You will frequently need someone to guide and help you. Always seek the advice of those who are older. When in doubt or trouble go first to your parents, and if they cannot help you; speak to your pastor. If it is beyond his being able to assist you—speak to your Scoutmaster. Never forget; that if all of these people find it impossible to assist you, you can always depend on your Scout Executive—'Uncle Bill.' True friends will never fail you." District Vice-Chairman Walter Pitzenka of Bristol presented the Franklin D. Roosevelt streamers. Merit badges were awarded by Merit Badge Commissioner William J. Ellis of Langhorne. First Class Badges were presented by Deputy Commissioner David Neill of Bristol, and Second Class Badges by Deputy Commissioner Harry Oliver of Andalusia.

Special anthems of "At Sunset" and "Seek Ye The Lord" were rendered by the choir.

Second Class Awards were made to Kenneth Beadle (Morrisville No. 1); Lawrence F. Newell, Jr., George Rigby, and William Risen (Morrisville No. 5); Robert Lange (Andalusia No. 1); Thomas Collier, Bristol No. 2; W. Francis Hampton, and Charles Orr, (Bristol No. 6); and Robert DeSaw (Yardley No. 1). First Class Awards were made to Abner Herbert (Morrisville No. 5); Jack Scarborough (Andalusia No. 1); C. Herbert Twining, Jr. (Langhorne No. 1); and Assistant Scoutmaster William Lyndall (Bristol No. 6). Star Scout Awards were presented to Donald Bebbington, Robert Bebbington, Stanley Bennett, H. Donald Clemens, Jr., Lamar DeSaw, and Joseph Groome (Yardley No. 1); and John M. Chapman and Robert D. Chapman (Andalusia No. 1).

GENERAL SCOTT

Few Americans have served their country as long and as ably as did General Hugh L. Scott, dying at the age of 82 years.

In war and in peace, his attainments marked him as a man possessed of unusual talents, all of which were dedicated to the service of the nation. To the present generation, the day of Indian wars seems a long way in the past. Yet General Scott won some of his most notable victories in charging the red-skins on the plains of the West. His active career continued to the outbreak of the World War, at which time he was chief of staff of the army and, as such, assisted in preparing the way for America's part in that conflict. He retired in 1917.

He knew the ways of the Indian perhaps better than any other white man of his day; and he became the red man's best friend as he had been his most unyielding enemy when the exigencies of the occasion and his duties called for this.

The passing of General Scott is a reminder of the youthfulness of the United States no less than it serves to impress upon the nation the distinguished service rendered it by this great soldier and peace-maker. He leaves a record that in either war or peace would be a badge of honor. In both fields, his work was of the highest quality. His name will stand out in American history among those of the nation's most distinguished sons.

SHOOTING IT OUT

"Put the fear of God into every crook's heart" by shooting the city free of crime are the orders given New York's policemen by Mayor LaGuardia.

The mayor was addressing a group of 3,000 policemen a few days after one detective had been killed and another seriously wounded by gunmen.

Almost daily incidents in New York and other large cities supply ample evidence that only by resorting to extreme measures can the police hope to cope with the gangs of criminals that make their living by violence. These gunmen don't hesitate to shoot, nor do they wait until they are cornered before blazing away. The mere appearance of a policeman is a signal for them to bring their guns into action. The fact that many of them use machine guns gives deadly accuracy to their aim.

The New York mayor believes that only by shooting and shooting to kill can the police rid the metropolis of its gunmen.

Where the officer has sufficient reason to believe the suspect to be a gunman, he, of course, is justified in trying to get in the first shot. Reasonable precaution, however, will have to be exercised unless grave mistakes are made.

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., — Young Tom Brown faces a dilemma that ought to create a wave of sympathy among romanticists of all ages.

The R-K-O studio wants to sign the youthful actor on a 5-year contract, but only if he agrees not to marry within this period.

Tom is in a state of great uncertainty. The offer is tantalizing, but five years is a long time—especially as he and Anita Louise have been going together all these months.

Unless Hollywood breaks them up, these two youngsters probably will marry—not today or even next year, but very possibly before 1939.

R-K-O contends that Tom is playing characters from 18 to 22 years (actually he's 20) and that marriage would hurt him with the fans.

Tom is inclined to challenge the logic, or at least to rebel against it. Unless something happens to change his mind, he is likely to turn down the offer and free-lance.

Maybe you fans can help him to a decision. But please don't send the letters to me. You can reach Tom for several weeks yet at the R-K-O studio in Hollywood.

Charles Irwin, who is Irish, gleefully tells of the Englishman and the Scotchman who were arguing about the literary merits of their countrymen.

The Scot reeled off a long list of names. "And I suppose you'll be claiming William Shakespeare next?" demanded his opponent.

"Na," said the Scot, "but his achievements verra nearly warrant it."

Although Irvin Cobb has been in Hollywood only a short time, his comments, full of mellowed wit, already are being eagerly passed around the cinema luncheon tables.

On a tour of the Fox lot, the humorist met Director Harry Lachman, who professed admiration for his work.

Cobb made the smiling reply: "The same general thing applies to my writings as to Lincoln's Gettysburg address. They are both good literature but they lack sex appeal."

Richard Dix's last day at the R-K-O studio was one of warming tribute to the star. His dressing-room was filled with parting gifts and executives, stars, property-men, friends of his six-years' stay on the lot, came in unending parade to visit him on the set.

His last picture was "The Family Man." Oddly enough, the final lines he had to speak were:

"I have a thousand things to do; a thousand places to go. You see, I lost so much time. I have to make up for those years."

As he spoke the words, with the memory of the day behind him, the star was visibly affected, almost broke up. It was an exit cue with drama—as if a playwright had written "Curtain."

To 50 youngsters in his neighborhood, Director W. S. Van Dyke is labeled here. Last Sunday he opened his swimming pool to them and had Johnny Weissmuller and Cotton Warburton (U. S. C. quarterback) on hand to provide entertainment. Ruth Mannix, Minna Gombell, Bill Powell, Henry Wordsworth, Nat Pendleton and Van's mother, Mrs. Laura Van Dyke, were on hand to help distribute the prizes and refreshments. It was a kid's red-letter day.

As most of us expected, Lupe Velez won her point about going on a personal appearance tour, but there will be no separation, after all, between the peppery Mexican star and Johnny Weissmuller. The two will take a plane together and Johnny will play the golf courses, while Lupe does her stint at the theater. Then the two of them will go on to New York for what Lupe calls their honeymoon.

As Hollywood's premiere fight-fans, the colorful screen couple won't fail to be in ringside seats when Max Baer meets Primo Carnera for the heavy weight championship of the world. And Lupe, who once put the confident Max emphatically in his place, makes no secret that her money is on Carnera.

Mother's Day

TWENTY YEARS AGO this May 8th (how time does fly along!), the gentlemen of the Congress, with a surprising oneness of mind, passed a joint resolution fixing the second Sunday in May as a memorial to the mothers of America, and ordered flags unfurled from all government buildings.

Next Sunday, accordingly, we celebrate Mother's Day.

1934, and we are reminded of the banking institution which issued a thrift calendar. For each day of the 365, some Scotch, money-canny proverb was placed beside the date. But along with Mother's Day just two words appeared: Be Extravagant!

Feeling that you subscribe to the same spirit about your own mother, we suggest that right here and now you start your gift-plans. Look through all the store announcements.

Think of wearable things and home-usable things, plus a bouquet and a box of sweets. Think of Grandmother as well as Mother and don't forget to gather up some cards for

ADVICE GIVEN TO ENLIST FAMILY IN HOME IMPROVEMENT

By Rhadena A. Armstrong

(Home Economics Representative)

Economic pressure forces the average homemaker to consider what can be done for home improvement with little or no expenditure of money. Everyone wants the home as comfortable and attractive as possible.

Spring housecleaning days are here. Calling a family council to talk over plans for individual and cooperative tasks is the first step in getting the work done. Family cooperation is important in accomplishing the home improvement objective.

Outside appearance looms large in the improvement program. As the house is approached attention is attracted to orderliness and beautiful surroundings, including flowers, shrubs, and well-kept lawns. Outdoor tools, children's playthings, and waste all should have their place if the appearance is to be neat and appealing. Tin cans or other containers scattered about not only mutely testify of untidiness but they attract flies and catch water in which mosquitoes may breed, thus aiding these carriers of disease.

Windows and doors should be well screened against flies and mosquitoes, garbage and waste should be disposed of promptly, and small repairs made. Wherever possible the porch can be arranged with chairs and hammock so that leisure moments may be enjoyed in the open. Improvements in the outside appearance will promote the urge to carry on the work inside also.

FARM EQUIPMENT EXPORTS

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Exports of agricultural machinery from the United States in March, 1934, recorded a value gain of 36 per cent, compared with shipments in March, 1933, and 26 per cent, compared with February, 1934, according to statistics made public by the Commerce Department's Machinery and Agricultural Implements Division. The respective totals were, March, 1934, $1,659,575; March, 1933, $1,215,530; and February, 1934, $1,310,708.

MICKEY-OR MINNIE?

GALENA, Ill. — (INS) — Did you ever hear a mouse singing? Well, Mr. John McBride did. In fact, he owns such an oddity. Major Thomas Barnsley of commodious brick mansion house," which he called Croydon Lodge, or in short, simply Croydon. This fine example of colonial architecture, located a half-mile west of Newportville, stood until 1906, when, at 1:00 P. M., on August 30th, it was burned to the ground. Two years later the house was rebuilt by Mrs. Richard Dingee. But, of course, nothing original of the old building remained, except the brick walls and enough tile to reconstruct one of the four fireplaces. Fortunately, exterior and interior pictures of Croydon have been preserved in the priceless photograph albums of our Society.

The original docket of Judge Gilbert Hicks, now owned by his descendant, Mrs. John Stanley Lee, of Newtown, shows that Barnsley was assignee of James Coultas, and that he paid Hicks for the property on the installment plan, not making the final payment until June 4, 1763.

On May 27, 1763, Thomas Barnsley received a warrant to take up 200 acres of land on Flag Run, Cumberland County. This was not surveyed until September 27, 1777, when it was found to contain 212 acres, located along Raystown Branch of Juniata River about a mile above what is now Mann's Choice, Bedford County. Barnsley mentions this tract in his will, bequeathing it to his quarter master, John Clark. On September 8, 1804, Governor Thomas McKean, regranted the same tract to James Ross, Esq., of Pittsburgh.

Capt. Barnsley continued to acquire land, and on June 1, 1763, took out another warrant. This one for 500 acres was also located in the wilderness of unsettled Cumberland County, a section of the country with which he had become familiar during his military life on the frontier.

It appears that in 1764 Capt. Barnsley was acting quarter master of his regiment. On March 1st of that year, Col. Henry Bouquet wrote to Governor John Penn:

The three Companies of the 60th Regiment intended for the Service of the Communication with the Ohio, having been detained at your desire at Philadelphia, I beg leave to request that you would order Two Companies of your own Troops, Stationed on the Frontiers of Cumberland County, to March to Bedford with the Convoy destined for Fort Pitt, and proceed to that Post with the Detachment of the King's Troops now at Bedford.

If you are pleased to grant the Reinforcement, Captain Barnsley has my orders to Supply those Companies with the King's Provisions till they return from Pittsburgh to their present Stations.

KOHLER AND ASHBY IN HURLING DIAMOND DUEL

LOWER BUCKS COUNTY LEAGUE

Schedule for Tonight
HULMEVILLE at ODD FELLOWS PARKLAND at BRISTOL A. A. (Leedom's Field)
A. O. H. at CORNWELLS
By T. M. Juno

Joe Kohler and "Ash" Ashby participated in a brilliant hurling match on Leedom's field last evening as the Bristol A. A. team nosed out the Odd Fellows, 3-2, in a close fray in which only one of the five tallies was earned.

Kohler, on the mound for the A. A., was invincible. He allowed but three hits and the two runs scored by the Odds were the results of an error and passed ball. For five innings, the Radcliffe Street boys failed to connect for a single base blow against Mulholland's speed ball artist and during this spell Kohler also kept them from the plate. Andy Pfaffenrath broke the jinx with a double in the sixth inning.

On the other hand, Ashby, manager of the Odds, was also in fine shape and the ultimate winners had a difficult time trying to solve his slants. He allowed but four hits and also fanned four to Kohler's ten. He had good control and was put in hot water in the third frame when the A. A. scored two runs.

In this canto, Curry was hit with a pitched ball. Kohler went out and Forrest got a single. Stromp moved up the runners a base with a nicely placed sacrifice. Heftman skied to center for what should have been the third out but Weiderman dropped the pill and two runs scampered across the plate.

Mulholland's third run came in the fifth when Kohler walked and was sacrificed to second by Forrest. Stromp followed with a single and Kohler crossed the plate for what proved to be the winning tally.

In the sixth, Andy opened with a double and scored when Mortimer's bounder to third went for an error. In the following inning, Ashby and States received singles. Paul hit to Kohler and Ashby went out at the plate. Warner fanned but the ball got away from DeBoskey and States scored.

The game was marked by the presence of "Bing" Miller and "Lena" Blackburne, members of the coaching staff of Connie Mack's A's.

Tonight on Leedom's Field, Bristol A. A. will play Parkland.

GRANNY'S FIRE RISK

DENVER — (INS) — Grandmothers, sitting in their favorite rocking chairs as they do their tanning, have set many houses afire. Electrical inspectors of the Rocky Mountain region, at a recent meeting here, were told that wires carelessly laid beneath carpets were often severed by rockers, causing short circuits with consequent blazes.

Marriage Joined Big Fortunes

Two of America's wealthiest families were united when John Mortimer Schiff and Miss Edith Baker (both above), were married in New York recently. Schiff inherited $15,000,000 estate of his father, Mortimer Schiff, and Miss Baker, granddaughter of the late George F. Baker, will receive a good share of a $75,000,000 inheritance.

ST. ANN'S A. A. WILL OPEN SEASON TONIGHT

The St. Ann's A. A. Twilight League, will initiate its season tonight on St. Ann's field when it clashes with the strong Edgely nine. The "Saints" were scheduled to open their season with the Jefferson A. C. last Friday night on Leedom's field, but were rained out and the game postponed until a future date.

This season Edgely has a heavy hitting ensemble. They have greatly strengthened their line-up, having acquired several new players.

Johnny Harneson, speed ball artist and popular pitching ace, and Gene Lawler, curve ball pitcher, will do the twirling for Edgely. Both men are experienced pitchers and are hard to deal with.

Undoubtedly a good game is in store for the Twilight fans tonight when these two teams come together. Both teams have excellent pitching and powerful batting orders. No doubt Manager Sagolla will nominate "Mike" DeRisi, rose of the "Saints" pitching corps, to do the hurling, while Johnny Harneson, ace of the Edgely flingers, will be the probable selection on the mound to face the Wood-streeters.

AERIAL BLOWOUT

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(INS)—A tire blowout above the clouds nearly wrecked the army plane in which Second Lieut. C. J. Messer was carrying the mail from Reno to Salt Lake.

The flyer heard a loud report and saw that the tire had burst. He radioed ahead to Wedover, Nev., where ambulances and crash equipment were wheeled out in readiness. The ship was landed without accident, but the cowl on one motor was found to have been loosened by the explosion.

HAS BACKYARD BANK

SAUGUS, Mass. — (INS) — "Woodman spare that tree," is the theme song of Thomas McCarrier. McCarrier announced recently that the apple tree in his back yard contains about $400 in silver coins.

During the boom times a few years ago when loose change was not sufficient reason for a hold-up McCarrier formed the habit of tossing quarters into the hollow of the tree.

FRANCE WANTS TO SETTLE DEBTS

Paris, France, May 8—France is seeking a settlement of her debts to the United States. Active conversations between Premier Gaston Doumergue and President Roosevelt are going on through diplomatic channels with eventual settlement of the perplexing debt question in view. International News Service learned this today from a source so close to the French government that any official denial in Paris or in Washington may be viewed as merely a formal gesture.

BELIEVE SOLUTION NEAR

Tucson, Arizona, May 8—Despite disappointing forays into Mexico authorities today held the belief that a solution was near in the case of June Robles, 6-year-old heiress kidnapped two weeks ago for $15,000 ransom. Numerous fruitless expeditions south of the international boundary line served notice that the Southwest's greatest manhunt was in progress again and will be continued without abatement until the case is solved.

BLIND PENSION PAYMENT

Harrisburg, May 8—Blind pension payments for June were assured today after Governor Pinchot allocated $125,000 from liquor store profits to the Department of Welfare for this purpose. Applications for pensions are now being received by Mothers' Assistance Boards in various counties. Under the law payments begin June 1st to blind persons over 21 who have no means of support and who have been residents of the state for ten years or longer. The maximum payment monthly is $30.

Liquor profits of $20,000,000 were appropriated to unemployment relief and $4,000,000 to Old Age Pensions by the last Legislature.

SPRINGFIELD — (INS) — An expectant father has a right to exceed the speed limit hurrying home in anticipation of the "stork," according to a verdict handed down by Judge Fred Wagner in municipal court here. He suspended a fine of $25 and costs when Paul H. Harris, 25, told the court that he had received word that a baby was arriving at his home and he was speeding home to see it.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. — (INS) — Suicide has gone to the dogs. Recently, E. I. Chapman, local merchant, left his pet bulldog, Cupie, alone in the house all day. When he returned home, the dog was dead. It had killed itself by turning on the gas jets of the kitchen range.

Chapman said the dog had tried unsuccessfully to open the jets on previous occasions.

The Yanks' Keystone Kids

By BURNLEY

JOE MCCARTHY SAYS THAT THESE TWO KIDS ARE THE PRIZE ROOKIES OF 1934--

A GREAT SECOND BASE DUO. HEFFNER AND ROLFE MAY BRING THE FLAG TO THE YANKS -- LIKE LAZZERI AND KOENIG DID BACK IN 1926---

BACK in 1926, the late Miller Huggins, then manager of the Yankees, surprised the baseball world by starting the season with a couple of raw recruits stationed at shortstop and second base.

"Hug" was taking a gamble, and this turned out to be the wisest move after all. The two rookies—Lazzeri and Koenig—were their names—clicked perfectly, and their sensational playing around the keystone bag was the biggest factor in bringing the 1926 pennant to the Yanks.

Of course, it isn't often that a big league pilot can get away with a gamble like that. A good keystone combination is one of the most valuable assets that a team can have, and it is a very rare occurrence for a rookie second base combination to make good right off the reel.

How-ever, Massa Joe McCarthy, who is now carrying on for little "Hug" as Yankee leader, thinks that history will repeat itself this season. He is banking his pennant hopes on a pair of kid infielders, Red Rolfe and Don Heffner, who, in their very first year in the major leagues, are performing as the Yankees' regular second base combination.

Rolfe and Heffner came to McCarthy this spring as two of the most highly touted recruits of the year. Joe thinks that they will surely prove to be another Lazzeri-Koenig combination, and from the smooth way they have worked together this spring, it looks as if the Yanks' boss may be right, at that. Rolfe is just about the classiest young infielder to come up to the majors in a long while. The erstwhile Dartmouth collegian is a first class fielding shortstop, and looks like he will hit .300 in any company.

Heffner, the youthful second sacker, won't hit much more than his weight, but he is positively brilliant in the field. He teams up with Rolfe perfectly on double plays, and will cut off many enemy hits for the Yanks this season.

McCarthy's Murderers have plenty of dynamite in their batting order, so they can afford to carry one light-hitting infielder who is sure to add materially to their defensive strength.
